NOTE TO VOLUME I, MARBLETOWN DUTCH CHURCH BAPTISMS

In the following pages, the records have been copied exactly as found, even to the paging. In regard to the words at the top of the columns, "kinderen" means, of course, children; "ouders", parents; "getuygen", godparents or sponsors. On pages 6 to 9 the order of the entries is changed several times, with headings written in. On page 9 (lower half) through to 13 (second entry), the parents' names are at the left, child's name in the middle between the sponsors, and there is no heading. A comparison with other records makes it clear that the order just indicated is correct. Beginning with page 13, the parents' names are uniformly at the left, the children's in the middle, the sponsors' at the right.

MARBLETOWN FIRST DUTCH CHURCH BAPTISMS

Volume 3

1772 - 1798

Transcribed from the Original Church Records
With Name Index by

LOUISE HASBROUCK ZIMM
Woodstock, New York

NOTE.

This volume, no. 3, is paged to follow the previous volumes 1 and 2. As explained with volume 1, the Dutch words should be translated as follows:

kinders - children

ouders - parents

getuygen - sponsors or witnesses (usually near relatives of the parents)

geb. or geboren - born

ged. or gedoopt - baptised door - by

The interlapping dates of this and volume 2 are due to the fact that there were two distinct records of baptisms kept by the Coetus and Conferentie parties of the Dutch Reformed Church in America in the years previous to and during the Revolution. After the Revolution the two parties were re-united.

For research in later records of the Marblatown Dutch Church, or for other early churches in Ulster and neighboring counties, apply to the undersigned.

Louise Hasbrouck Zimm

GENEALOGICAL DEPARTMENT

By William J. Coulter

The Marbletown Dutch Reformed Church, Stone Ridge, N. Y.

Last Spring while Sergeant William E. Westbrooke visited us on his way to the Panama Canal Zone, we called at the manse of the Dutch Reformed Church at Stone Ridge, N. Y., and there made the acquaintance of Rev. Harold Hoffman, the pastor, a former Michigan boy and a graduate of the Holland, Mich., Seminary.

He allowed us to inspect the church records and in conversation we learned that they planned to hold the 200th anniversary of their church this fall on Sept. 23rd and 24th with a historical pageant, and on Sunday the 25th to wind up with

G. D. B. Hasbrouck, President of the Ulster County Historical Society, Kingston, N. Y., and an old Stone Ridge boy; also an address by Dr. Lewis B. Sebring, Jr., a direct descendant of Rev. Dirck Romeyn, the second pastor of the Marbletown Church from 1764 to 1776, who is now night city editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

We attended the first pageant on the night of Sept. 23rd, Friday evening. A very nice printed program had been arranged with the picture of the present church on the front which was presented to each one who attended. There were seven scenes, the first a forest in Marbletown, three white men and a group of Indians, the tomahawk, the head-dress, the leather coat, the trousers, moccasins, and beaded gloves were brought east last summer, a year ago, 1937, by Jacob P. Lambert, 141 W. Doxey street, Ogden, Utah, and were used in this scene. Scene two, Worshipping God in the Forest, time 1650; the service was all in Dutch and directed by a minister from Kingston who could speak Dutch; this was a very inspiring scene. Scene 3, writing a letter to Governor Andress. We understand this was based on New York State archives referring to Marbletown. The time 1677; the characters from Kingston, Hurley and Marbletown, were Wessel Ten Broeck, Jan Mattyssen, Dirck Schepmooes, Jan Hendrickse, Jan Allardt, Heymanse Roosa, Roelof Hendrickse, Jan Jorstan, William Jansen.

There are many, many people scattered through Port Jervis and all up and down the valley and through Orange County who are descendants of Heymanse Roosa above, who was a Judge under Governor Peter Stuyvesant at Kingston, N. Y., in 1661. In those days they called them Schepmooes. Scene Four, Making plans for a church at the home of Frederick Davis, the time 1743; at that time there were 132 names on the parisholders' list which they still have. Scene 5, Meeting of the Cocytus and Conferente at the home of Louis Devior, 1764. Scene 6, Planning the New Church in the lecture room of the old Church. Scene 7, laying the cornerstone in the church lot.

From our standpoint, we think the Stone Ridge people are to be congratulated on their costumes and their stage settings, for a small church we think they were unusual. We brought home four of the programs and one we will present to the Minisink Society particularly because of the close relationship between the Port Jervis Church and the Stone Ridge church, the Rev. Thomas Romine being pastor at Port Jervis and his brother the Rev. Dirck Romine or Romeyn being pastor of Marbletown Church. Deacon William Henry Nearpass of Port Jervis once said in one of his church articles that the Rev. Dirck Romeyn was in the Boanerges of his day, who we presume must have been a famous man, but our Encyclopedia Britannica, Appleton's and the People's fail to mention him, so think he must have been one of the ancients.

On Sunday, Sept. 25th, 1938, we attended the morning church service and heard Judge Hasbrouck and Dr. Sebring speak. It was a two hour service, from 10 to 12, and well worth the trip. The Judge, who spoke first, was in a reminiscing frame of mind and we took his talk verbatim. This we will quote later for the benefit of the Stone Ridge people who may desire to have it.

The second talk was by Dr. Sebring and we took his speech verbatim, but the good Doctor was reading it, or most of it, that went on the record; later we will tell you what he said off the record, and he was traveling a little bit faster than our speed, which is 175 words a minute, and like a racehorse which gets pushed too fast, we broke, and just had to skip it. The next day we wrote the Doctor to get a copy and he informed us that Rev. Hoffman had the original, but lo and behold this had become lost by the Kingston newspaper, and it was necessary to send and get a duplicate which has just been received and we believe this paper is the only one to carry the story of Rev. Dirck Romeyn which was written up by Mrs. Lila Jones Roney, the distinguished genealogist of New York City, who wrote it, we believe, at the time they put a plaque in Union College for Rev. Dirck Romeyn about a year ago and some of it was also used in that service.

The following is a sketch of the great great great grandson who read the article, quote: Lewis Beck Sebring, Jr., is a member of the Second Reformed Church of Schenectady, N. Y., which his father and mother attend, although he lives in New York, where he is night city editor of the Herald Tribune. He is the grandson of the Rev. Elbert Nevius Sebring, a graduate of Rutgers in 1865, and for many years a pastor in the Reformed Church. He is a great-great-great-grandson of the Rev. Dirck Romeyn on his mother's side. Mrs. Annie Tucker Beck Sebring, and a great-grandson of Dr. Lewis C. Beck, noted scientist of the early 19th century. Both he and his father, Lewis Beck Sebring, Sr., are graduates of Union College in Schenectady. Lewis Beck Sebring, Jr., attends the historic Flatbush Reformed Church, in Brooklyn, N. Y. End of quotation.

Address on the Rev. Dirck Romeyn, Marbletown Reformed Church, Stone Ridge, N. Y., Sept. 25, 1938. quote:

Two hundred years! To most of us the thought of such a period of time is rather appalling, the more so when we consider the events that have taken place in those two centuries, — the vast changes in the world itself, and the joys and sorrows that have become the lot of some eight generations of human beings.

And yet the fundamentals have not changed. The same God looks down upon us all, and the same emotions rule human hearts, and essentially, the same things which were right and wrong, in 1738, govern our conduct and make for the strength or weakness of our characters in 1938.

If there were to be a text for this little talk, it might well be taken from Deuteronomy, the 32nd chapter, the 7th verse, wherein we find:

Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: ask thy father, and he will shew thee; thy elders and they will tell thee."

That is good advice, and especially so for the person who finds an interest in matters genealogical and historical. For by the very nature of his interest, he comes into closer contact with those who have gone before, and finds much that is worthwhile and much of which to be intensely proud.

By that pride in the achievement of those shadowy figures of the past — shadowy and yet still so real in the memories and deeds they have left behind, — we can chart our own course for the future — for there is no safer guide than the experiences of the past. How we wish that it might be heeded more widely today.

Individuals can profit by it, and institutions can profit by it no less. Despite the modern ideas of a world that is outwardly changed, there is still room for the fundamental ideas of an older world which never changes.

Nearly two hundred years ago, on January 12, 1744, to be exact, there was born in what was then New Barbadoes, New Jersey, now Hackensack, a man who twenty-two years later was to become the pastor of the church, the 200th anniversary of which we are now celebrating. He was a person of vast vision, as subsequent events have shown, and yet of such personal compassion and strength of character as to make him beloved even by those around him. For in these days as now, the broad outlook and the fine appreciation of immediate human relationships did not always go hand in hand. But he seems to have had both.

Until about a year ago, little was known about Dirck Romeyn. He was a name on a tablet in the Old Reformed Church in Hackensack, and his name was inscribed in the records of the First Reformed Church of Schenectady, N. Y., and here, as a former pastor. His most outstanding achievement, the founding of Union College, in Schenectady, was remembered there as a legend, but little more.

A few references to him appeared in yellowed old books on religious or historical copies, but that was all. No one could say exactly how he looked, for no one living had ever seen a picture of him, and the only descriptions were of the flowery and uninformative type characteristic of the late 18th century.

It was decided early last year that the college which he had founded would finally honor him with a proper memorial, but it fell to my lot, as a direct descendant, to ascertain the facts of his life and activities.

The story of the year of research which followed would be much too long to tell here, but suffice it to say that there has now been uncovered virtually every bit of information which it is possible to obtain on the man, except the diaries and letters which he must have written, and a picture. One is supposed to have been seen a quarter of a century ago in an old farmhouse near Guilderland, N. Y., but it has long since disappeared.

There is no need of a picture, however, to tell what type of man Dirck Romeyn was, for the few available records give enough of that. First, and of course most important from the research standpoint, is the actual record of his birth, set down in the Dutch handwriting of his father, Claes or Nicholas Romeyn, in the family Bible which is now in the possession of Union College. This record reads:

"Myn soon Derk Romine is geboren in het jaar zeventien honderd en vier en vierig de twaalf yaneware."

The first name was spelled Derk and the last Romine, which seems to have been that used by his father, although at least eight different spellings of the family name are recorded from the time it first appeared in England in the 13th century, when two sons of a Norfolkshire family returned from Rome and adopted a name meaning "Roman."

A branch of the family eventually emigrated to what is now the Netherlands, and was from there that Dirck Romeyn's grandfather Claes Janse Romeys, came to this country in 1661 by way of Brazil, where he had large land holdings.

On January 29, 1744, Dirck Romeyn was baptised in the First Reformed Church of Hackensack, and this first public record of him still appears in the archives of that old church. Of his childhood, little is known, although T. Romeyn Beck, one of his grandsons, wrote that "his mind seemed to take a strong direction in favor of religion," when he was nine years old.

He was graduated in 1765 from the College of New Jersey, now Princeton University, and the next year began his career in the combined church of Marbleton, Rochester and Warwarsing, in the Province of New York.

There were three distinct phases in the career of Dirck Romeyn after he had been admitted to the Dutch Reformed Ministry in May, 1766.

One, which continued throughout his life, was his active work in behalf of church unity, which involved the fusion of liberal ideas into an ultra conservative organization, and separation from the conservative and old world domination of the mother church in the Netherlands. From the first, he recognized that a church in a new country must adapt its ideas and customs to those of a nation born of a desire for freedom. To this end he worked unceasingly, chiefly with the Rev. John H. Livingston, who later became President of Queens College, now Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J.

In this first Baptism record of the Marbletown Church, the children are called by the Dutch name of Kinderen, the parents are called "Ouders" and the witnesses are called "Getuigen."

November 4, 1746 (Den 4 Novemb). Isaac, son of Velde Keller and Christina Schmid, the witnesses Isaac Schmid and Catharina Schmid.

Edward, son of Richard Stooks (Stokes) and wife Mary—probably Schaefer, although the name is not spelled so in this baptism but is later; the witnesses William Sluiter syn huijs ve. Maria Keiser—which means his wife.

Maria, daughter of William Nottingham and wife, Elisabeth Kantain. (we spell it Cantine); the witnesses Nathaniel Kantain and Maria Kantain. One, William Nottingham, was County Clerk of Ulster County in 1719 for three years, we presume he was the grandfather of the above child, if so, the grandmother was Margaret, daughter of Colonel Jacob Rutsen; also in that case the aunt of the child, Catherine Nottingham, married Matthew Cantine, who was a member of the 2nd, 3rd and 4th Provincial Congresses and a member of the convention which framed the first constitution of the State of New York and a member of the Council of Safety.

Petrus, son of Petrus Vanderburg and Kesia Bras or Bros, the witnesses James Oklen syn huijs vrouw Hester Oklen; this is probably Oakley, see later baptisms. The Vanderburgh families is one of the old Dutch families of the State of New York; one of the patentees of the Minisink and Cheesecock patents in Orange County was Derick Vandenberg. The Ulster County history says the wife of Petrus Vanderburg above was Keziah Bray.

Catharine, daughter of Benjamin Van Wageningen and Elisabeth Vandenberg, the witnesses Solomon Van Wageningen and Sara Van Wageningen; the father was a son of Jacob Aertsen (Van Wageningen), born Feb. 14, 1652, married Feb. 25, 1677, to Sara, daughter of Judge Evert Pels, of Kingston, N. Y., who was born July 3, 1659, they had fifteen children of whom this Benjamin Van Wageningen was the 12th child and was born; or rather baptized Jan. 1, 1697; married May 28, 1726, see Kingston records, Elisabeth daughter of Gysbert (Gilbert) Van Den Berg and Diwertje (Deborah) Masten, the latter a daughter of Cornelius Masten and Elisabeth Aertse Van Wageningen, daughter of Aert Jacobsen Van Wageningen.

The grandfather, John Masten or Marston, was an Englishman settled at Flushing, L. I., previous to 1644, and married Diwertje Jans. The writer had a great-great-grandmother, Diwertje Quick, whom they always called Aunt Debby, and I assume this name Diwertje comes from the Masten family, because I find no other family in Kingston so early with this first name. Also, we would say to those people in the Minisink Valley who are descendants of the early Van Eten family that you are all related to this Van Wageningen family of Marbletown through the Judge Evert Pels side of the family; these Van Wageningen and the early Minisink Van Ettens were both descended from Judge Evert Pels of Kingston; my own children happen to come in this latter category.

Books have been written on the subject of church unity, and it can be touched on here only in passing, but the part which Dr. Romeyn played in bringing about that much desired goal, and eventual peace in a church torn with internal dissension of the most distressing type, will stand forever to his credit in the religious annals of America.

The second phase of his life began with the actual start of his ministry, in the community in which we are today. It continued through the period of the War of the Revolution, when he held the pastorate of the Reformed Church in Hackensack and Schraalenburgh, New Jersey.

Of his pastorate here, few facts are available, although we do know that he came upon a call from the church, and that he was ordained by the Rev. Schuneman and the Rev. J. M. Goetehuis under whom he had studied theology at the College of New Jersey, the latter preaching the Exactly one year after he had come to the Marbletown Church on May 18, 1767, he married Elizabeth Broadhead, the daughter of Wessel and Katrina DuBois Broadhead, a family of which I am sure I do not have to tell more to you people here in Stone Ridge. Extensive material regarding this family and its connection with Dr. Romeyn have been gathered and published by my good friend Mrs. Lilla James Roney, and for these facts I have had to turn to the fruits of her researches.

In June, 1768, the first child was born to the Rev. Romeyn and his wife,—a girl, Catharine Theresa, who later became the mother of five sons, two of whom, the previously mentioned T. Romeyn Beck and Lewis C. Beck, gained national and international prominence in the early 19th century of their work in the medical and scientific fields.

In December, 1771, Mr. Romeyn received a call from Livingston Manor, which he declined in February of the following year, and in April of 1772 he received a call from Spicess County, Long Island, which he also declined.

Another call came two years later, in 1774, from the churches in North and South Hampton, Bucks County, Pa., but this he likewise declined. However, in October, 1775, he was called to Hackensack and Schraalenburgh, from which he had previously declined two calls and he conceived it to be his duty to accept, which he did in April 1776. He had been in Marbletown just ten years to the month, as he left in May for Hackensack.

It was a perilous time for him to leave the comparatively safe precincts of Ulster County for the strife torn area of New Jersey, in which British troops were already operating with devastating results. The story of his early experiences there perhaps is best told by his grandson, T. Romeyn Beck, who probably heard it from his grandfather's own lips, and who wrote in a memoir many years ago:

"Before the close of the year in which he was settled, the British troops, during his absence from home, entered his dwelling and carried off or destroyed all his furniture, clothing, books, papers, etc. Immediately after this, about the close of November he removed his family to New Paltz, and then to his mother-in-law's, at Marbletown, where they remained nearly two years."

I might interpose here that during his stay in Marbletown, in November, 1777, the second child was born, John Broadhead Romeyn, who later became prominent as a pastor of the Cedar Street Presbyterian Church in New York.

Continuing with T. Romeyn Beck's story:

"he made frequent visits to his congregations (at Hackensack) but they were necessarily brief, and always attended with great danger. On the occasion of one of these visits, in September, 1777, as he was about to leave, he was waylaid by two armed loyalists, who, as he afterwards found, had a design upon his life; and were prevented from executing it only by the formidable appearance of two armed men who happened to be with him. In February, 1779, he ventured to return to Hackensack with his family, and soon after solicited and obtained "militia" aids from Governor Livingston; and as the state of things became more alarming, he subsequently obtained additional aids.

In March, 1780, a detachment of the enemy surprised Hackensack, took a number of the inhabitants prisoners, burnt the Court House and some private dwellings, and carried off a large amount of plunder. Among the prisoners was one of Mr. Romeyn's brothers, who remained a captive about three months. Mr. Romeyn himself was providentially the means of saving several men in the house in which he lived, and he himself escaped only by hiding behind a chimney. He was, at this time, again plundered of a considerable quantity of clothing.

During this protracted season of agitation and peril, Mr. Romeyn evinced the deepest regard for the welfare of the country, as well as for the temporal and spiritual interests of his immediate charge. He was in intimate relations with several of the most distinguished officers of the Army, and some of them have recognized, in letters which are still valuable, his services as a patriot (that was eighty years ago) to important services which he performed."

This ends the quotation from T. Romeyn Beck's article.

The British contemptuously referred to Dirck Romeyn as "the Rebel Parson;" we learn from other sources, they were reported to have set a price on his head because of his close associations with the American Army.

But eventually there were better times, and the outlook was brighter, and this brings us to the final phase in the career of the man. After turning down several calls from various churches, which would have brought him a material gain in money, if not in happiness, he received and declined, in March, 1784, a call from the Trustees of Queens College at New Brunswick, to become President of the institution. In May of the same year he was called to the Reformed Church in Schenectady, and this he accepted, after having declined a previous call in 1778.

Aside from the opportunity of serving a larger church, there seems to have been in the back of Mr. Romeyn's mind for many years before, the idea of organizing some sort of institution of higher learning. He had seriously considered in 1783 the founding of a Seminary at New Brunswick, but could not do so, because of circumstances beyond his control. Then he undertook to sound out opinion regarding a State University in New York. It was at this time that the call came from Schenectady, and so when he went there, he took his ideas with him. Almost immediately there began to appear in the minutes of the Reformed Church Consistory plans for the founding of an advanced school or academy. It was opened a year later, in 1785. Ten years later, on February 25, 1795, the Regents of the University of the State of New York of which Dr. Romeyn had become a member in the meantime, granted the charter for Union College, which this past week (Sept. 1933) opened its 144th academic year.

And now, what of the man himself—what was he like, how did he look, how was he regarded?

We can do no better than to quote a few excerpts from the memoirs of the Rev. Dr. Jacob Brodhead, a nephew, written in 1874. (Do not know whether that date is right).

Discounting some of the more flowery passages, we can gain a fairly accurate picture of Dirck Romeyn from this:

"I can never forget the impression made upon my mind, as often I look upon his external form, his manly, noble stature, his majestic, though sometimes stern countenance, that he resembled the illustrious Washington. . . .

"Dr. Romeyn's intellect was in admirable harmony with his external form and carriage; . . . He possessed what truly may be denominated a strong mind; and though the advantages of education in his day were, in many respects, inferior to those of the present, yet he was industrious and successful in the acquisition of knowledge from all sources within his reach. With a singularly retentive memory, united to a strong desire to become familiar with every legitimate subject of human inquiry, he was, in many respects, far in advance of the times in which he lived. . . .

"As a preacher, Dr. Romeyn was in some respects peculiar. His preparatory studies were in the Dutch language; and in that language he generally preached during the former part of his ministry. After his removal to Schenectady he conducted the morning service in Dutch, and the afternoon service in English. And I well remember that there was sometimes a hesitancy when he preached in English, for want of a proper word as he had never noted before him. This was caused by the necessity of translating from the one language to the other, for he appeared to think in the language most familiar to him. (Would not any of us do the same?) But notwithstanding this defect, he was one of the most earnest, impressive and instructive preachers I have ever heard. His discourses were thoroughly evangelical, well digested, and full of pertinent and weighty thoughts.

His manner was commanding, yet easy and natural. His most expressive organ was his eye, and when he was excited, no one could withstand its power. Many of the students at college could testify to this, and sometimes from an experience not the most agreeable. In the afternoon of the Sabbath they were accustomed to attend the Dutch Church, and sometimes, during the service, they would engage in conversation and in unbecoming levity of conduct; but if observed by the Doctor, he turned upon them his piercing eye to such good purpose as to make them hide their faces in utter confusion."

And thus we come to the end of the quotation from Dr. Romeyn's nephew, and to that point to which all of us must eventually come—the time when we begin to look back at the younger years and wonder whether it was all worthwhile. If we can say "yes" in our own hearts, we can feel, as Dirk Romeyn must have, that life was worth living and that something worthwhile has been left, to be passed on to the generations to come.

From 1301 until 1304, Dr. Romeyn suffered intermittent illness, though he continued as pastor of the Reformed Church in Schenectady. In the latter year he died, at the age of sixty years, and was buried in Vale Cemetery, in Schenectady, where eleven years later, his wife was laid away beside him, and there they still rest.

It has not only been a pleasure, but I consider it a real privilege, to have been able to speak to you here today, and may your fine old church carry on into the future, as it has come through the past, in the spirit in which this former pastor lived—the Spirit of True Godliness, supported by those qualities of energy, resourcefulness and tenacity of purpose which, if they were more widespread today, would make this old world a better place in which to live. This ends Dr. Sebring's paper.

Marbletown Dutch Reformed Church, Stone Ridge, N. Y.

Frederick, son of Hermanus Rosenkrans and Antje Schoonmaker, the witnesses Isaac Hasbrouck, Junior and syn huis vrouw Maria Bruin. It was our thought that this Hermanus Rosenkrans was the son of Alexander Rosenkrans and Marretjen Depuy, but the Rosenkrans family history says he married Anna Stout although the Rosenkrans history says he purchased the Frederick Schoonmaker Shapanack farm in Walpack and you will notice this son above is named Frederick. Hermanus Rosenkrans and Antje Schoonmaker continued to live at Marbletown, as future baptism records will show. You will note that the Rosenkrans family does not record the travels of Hermanus further. Isaac Hasbrouck, Jr., married Maria Bruyn, daughter of Jacobus Bruyn, of Shawangunk, and moved about 1746 from the present Memorial House in New Paltz and settled in Marbletown, now Stone Ridge, and they are the ancestors of the Stone Ridge Hasbrouck family, so says the History of New Paltz, N. Y.

① Jenneke, daughter of Matthew Nieuwkerk and Anna Cool, the witnesses Cornelius Cool and Jenneke Louw. Matthew Nieuwkerk and Anna Cool were married Nov. 8, 1740. This child, Jenneke, however, is not mentioned among their children which leads us to wonder if she died young. Matthew was the son of Gerrit Nieuwkerk and Gertrude Ten Eyck. Was Anna Cool the daughter of Lambert Cool of Hurley and his wife Catelintjen Van Deusen? Also was Jenneke Louw the daughter of Timothy Louw and Hendrikje Kool?

② Nicolaas, son of Nicolaas Sluiter, and Jennetje Keiser, the witnesses Dirk Bos and Antje Bos.

③ Benjamin, son of Nicolaas Louw and Annatje Blanshan, the witnesses Jacob Keter and Ellsabeth Louw, Anno 1747 Den 10 Febr.

④ Jannetje, daughter Johannis Keter and Annaatje Van Vliet, the witnesses Arie Keter, Catharina Keller.

In regard to the Sluiter or Slyter family we find that the first by that name in this region was Claas Claasz Shuyter, who married Cornelia Willems Schyven, the marriage record No. 43 at Kingston Nov. 16, 1679, says: Claas Claassen Sluiter from Oldenburgerlandt—which is present Oldenburg, a state in the N. W. part of the German empire, with the title of Grand Duchy, residing in Kingston, and Cornelia Willems J. d.—young woman of the Sult Revier (South River, i. e. the Delaware) residing in Kingston, married in Hurley—Hurley, which is the village between Marbletown and Kingston; first publication of banns Oct. 25th; in other words he was a German and she may have been a Swede from the Delaware settlements. This couple had six children baptized in the Kingston records that we have found—Margaret, Nicholaes, Jannetje, Maria, Cornelis and Neeltje, four daughters and two sons. The first son, Nicolaas or Nicholas, was married as per Kingston marriage No. 215, which says he was born in Mombaccus or Mombakes, to Jannetje Keyser, born in Hurley and both residing in Mornel—Marbletown, married Sept. 28, 1703. This couple had between Mar. 5, 1704 and Nov. 4, 1746, the date the son Nicolaas was baptized above, sixteen children baptized, fifteen of which are in the Kingston church record including a pair of twins, covering a period of 42 years, almost incredible.

About the mother Jannetje Keiser and her people, we will have something to say next week.

Marbletown Dutch Reformed Church, Stone Ridge, N. Y.

With reference to Jannetje Keiser, wife of Nicolaas Sluiter, in our last article. An analysis of the records indicates the following:

Dirk Keyser and his wife Agnieta Coens have the following children baptized at Kingston, June 18, 1671: a son, Cornelis; May 18, 1679, a daughter, Apollony; Oct. 30, 1681, a daughter Jannetje, and then on the last baptism the mother is given as Agniet Jacobs; we do not know if she is the same person as given in the other baptisms. The first child, the son, Cornelis, marries on Sept. 8, 1698, which says he is born in Kingstown to Margriet Sluyters, born in Mombakes. They had seven children baptized at Kingston, May 26, 1700, a daughter Apolloni, the witnesses Isaack Kermer, Moses Depuy and Apolloni Keyser—the latter an aunt of the child. June 6, 1703, a daughter Cornelia, the witnesses Claes Claesse Sluyter, Nicolaas, and Cornelia Willems Va De Shuyve, the maternal grandparents of the child and the parents of the mother of daughter

Dec. 15, 1706, a son Dirk, the witnesses Teunis Keyser and Appollonia Keyser—the latter the paternal aunt of the child. Sept. 11, 1709, a daughter Marya, the witnesses Vrederyk Van Der Mark and Maria Sluiter—the latter a maternal aunt of the child. Nov. 25, 1711, a daughter Jannetje, the witnesses Willem Vander Schuyve and Helena de Wit—the first witness the maternal relative of the child. Mar. 13, 1715, a son Nicolaas, the witnesses Willem Sluyter and Styntjen Kermer; May 17, 1724, a daughter Angenietjen, the witnesses Wouter Sluyter and Angientjen Keyser.

Jacob Keyser, the second son of Dirk Keyser, and Agniet Jacobs, was born in Rosendale and resided in Hurley, where he married Marytje De Langet, born in Mombaccus but residing in Kingston; they had Rachel, baptized Mar. 26, 1703; Agnietje, baptized Sept. 22, 1705; Lea, baptized Mar. 30, 1706, Jacomyntje, baptized Sept. 11, 1709; Nov. 10, 1710, a son, Cornelis, baptized; April 5, 1713, a son, Ary, baptized; July 4, 1714, a daughter, Catrina, baptized; Feb. 10, 1717, a daughter, Ariaantjen, and Feb. 1, 1719, a daughter, Maria.

From the above analysis you will note that Jannetje Keyser, the wife of Nicolaas Sluiter, was a daughter of Cornelis Keyser and Margriet Sluyter and a granddaughter of Dirk Keyser and Agnietje Coens; also she was a granddaughter of Claas Claasse Sluyter and wife Cornelia Willems Schyven, therefore Nicolaas Sluiter and wife Jannetje Keyser were first cousins before marriage. Further analysis will appear next week.

Comments on D. R. Church Records, Marbletown

In our article of Jan. 7, 1939, we mention Herman Rosenkrans and wife Antje Schoonmaker, see page 67 of the Rosenkrans history he was a son of Hendrick Rosenkrans and Annatje Vredenberg, daughter of William Isaacson Van Vredenberg and wife Appollonia Barents. The Rosenkrans family history says Herman Rosenkrans and Antje Schoonmaker probably went to another county in eastern New York; in as much as the Rosenkrans history was written in Sussex County, N. J., this is historically correct because as we have shown they settled at Marbletown, Ulster Co., which is of course one of the eastern counties of N. Y. State.

Comments on D. R. Church Records, Marbletown

Marinus Schammers, the father in baptism No. 23, was probably the grandson of Jan Chambers and Cornelia Van Aken and his grandmother Cornelia Van Aken is thought to have been the sister of Marinus Van Aken, the ancestor of all the Ulster County and Minisink Van Akens. Just why they took the name of Schammers we do not know but it may have been so they could differentiate between all the various families of Chambers there were in Ulster County at that early date. The amateur historian seldom realizes how many families there were at that date of that name, and the reason is obvious—because they usually follow their own line.

Baptism No. 24—the parents are John Brodhead and wife Anna Nottingham, the latter probably the daughter of William Nottingham and Margaret Rutsen, both of whose ancestry has been given Stephen Nottingham, the witness, was an uncle of the child, while his wife, Neeltje Brodhead, was the other witness. We will have more to say of the Brodhead family later.

Baptism No. 25—it would seem that Hendrick Krom and Dina Krom must be descendants of Guysbert Krom and wife Geertje Van Vliet—see Kingston baptisms. Levi Pawling, the witness, was, it would seem, a son of Henry Pawling and Jacobmyntje Kunst and the grandson of Henry Pawling or Paulding and Neeltje Roosa.

Our thanks to Jacob P. Lambert, of Ogden, Utah, for the two books, one Croft's Trans Continental Tourists Guide of 1871 and the other the First Book of Laws of the State of Utah published 1857 in Great Salt Lake City. These books are mighty interesting reading. The book of laws has proved especially interesting. The Tourists Guide has in it many things relative to the west of 70 years ago.

We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the Utah Genealogical Magazine, being sent us by J. P. Lambert.

Also, our thanks to the Southern Pacific R. R. for the S. P. Bulletin and the fine folder of San Francisco Fair.

Our thanks to Mrs. Florence Westbrook Wolfe for additional data on the Broadhead family of Dingman township, Pike Co., Pa.

We have been asked regarding the ancestry of Margaret Dewitt, wife of Solomon Westbrook, of the Pike County family; we suppose she was a daughter of Jacob Dewitt and Jane Van Sicklen or Van Sickle, the granddaughter of Cornelius Dewitt and Sarah Hornbeck, daughter of Lo-

Jacob Dewitt and Grietje Ver of Rochester, Ulster Co., the great-granddaughter of Jan De and Wyntje Kiersted—desc. of neke Jans, the gr. gr. daughter of Tjerk Claesen De and Barbara Andriesen. If our readers have any data that proves this we would be please hear from you. This is the branch of the Dewitt family from which Jacob Dewitt, of Port Jervis, is descended.

Our thanks to William E. V brooke of Panama Canal Zone his data on Abram P. or H. V brook, of Newark, Ohio. Our belief, which may be right or wrong is that in the light of present he is probably the son of Rie Westbrook and wife Anna H they at one time along about lived in Wheeling County, Virginia now W. Virginia—or Ontario County, N. Y. It is given both ways the deed and acknowledgment—Sussex County records. We now say to Mr. Westbrook that Penn Monroe Co., N. referring to baptism No. 38. William Ennist and wife Sara Hein have daughter Maretje baptized. We made an analysis of the Ennes Ennis, Annis, Annist family at Kingston, N. Y., and find that Thomas Ennis and wife Jannetje Francois-Chair-Legier, had a daughter Jannetje Sept. 29, 1695, a daughter Jannetje Jan. 9, 1698, and a daughter Jannetje Mar. 3, 1700; the witnesses: Hendrick Boogersen, Jannetje Mertist, Lucas Dewitt and Antje Tilba, Post and Cornelia Martinsen. William Ennis and Cornelia Vierst had the following children: a son Alexander, Nov. 18, 1694; a son Cornelis, May 9, 1698; a daughter Catharina, April 20, 1701; a daughter Jannetje, July 17, 1703; a son Alexander, Sept. 18, 1709; a son William, Jan. 27, 1712—this son is the armed schoolmaster of the Minisink Valley; the witnesses to these baptisms were Jannetje Ennis, Geerdy Pieters, Jan Jansen Post and Jannetje Post, Abroom Post and Antje Post, Thomas Hennis and Catharyn Ennist, Wiljem West and Mary Post.

On Oct. 9, 1719, Cornelis Ennis and Marytjen Van Etten, both living at Marmel, were married; they had children: Jannetje baptized April 8, 1722, Jan May 31, 1724, Cornelis Jan. 3, 1726, the witnesses Jan Van Ennis and Jannetje Roosa, Hendrick Kog and Antjen Van Etten, Hendrick Kortregt and Jannetje Ennis. In Sept. 1734, Zander Ennes and Sara Middag, both born at Marmel, were married; they had the following children: Elisabeth, Aug. 24, 1735; Wiljem, Jan. 9, 1737; Jooris, Nov. 11, 1739; Jan, May 3, 1741, and Sara, July 8, 1744; the witnesses William Ennes and Hendrikjen Brink, Hendrick Kortregt and Jannetje Ennes, Augustinus Van De Merken and Geesjen Vander Merken, Mathen Middag and Marretjen Kok, Jacobus Venderdorp Kool and Marretjen Kok.

It might say that Marytjen Van Ennis was the sister of Jan Van Etten, above and Lea Van Etten, wife of Thomas Keeter mentioned last week. Cornelis Ennis, the father, is a brother of William Ennis, the armed schoolmaster of the Minisink country near Port Jervis, the brother of Zander or Alexander Ennis, who married Sarah Middag, and brother of Jannetje Ennis, who married Hendrick Kortregt and later moved to the Minisink Valley. It was their daughter and last child, Cornelia Kortregt, who married Capt. Henry Hover mentioned in these articles. It would seem that William Ennis, who married Sarah Hein, above, was probably a son of Cornelis Ennis and Marytjen Van Etten, above.

No. 28 baptism—the parents Thomas Keter and Lea Van Etten were the father and mother-in-law of Thomas Kyte, the second schoolmaster in the Minisink Valley.

With regard to the ancestry of Thomas Keter, his grandfather, Melchert Claessen, and wife, Susanna Keter, lived in the Town of Marbletown in the 1670-80 period, and several of their children were baptized there. One of their children was Claes Melchertsen Keeter, who married, as per Kingston marriage No. 140, Jannetje Vandermark, 1699, Feb. 19. Nicholas Keetyn, j. m. and Jannetje Van Merck, j. d., both born in Marmeltown—Marbletown—baptized published, but dates not given. They had the following children baptized in Marbletown: Melchert, Mar. 30, 1701; Thomas, Dec. 6, 1702; Jacob, March 17, 1706; Augustinus, May 7, 1710; Johannes, July 6, 1712; Frederik, Dec. 19, 1714; Susanna, June 30, 1717; Aarien, March 27, 1720. The son Melgert Keter married Debora Kinni, of Elizabethtown, Feb. 26, 1725. The son Thomas Keeter, born in Marmel, but living in Hurley, married Lea Van Etten of Knightsfield near Warwarsing, (see entry No. 22 above).

The son Augustus Keeter, born at Marmel, married Anna Margaret Weyde, born in Rotterdam but living at Albany. The son Nicolaas Keeter, Jr. born in Marmel, married Engeltjen Oosterhout, born in Rochester. The son, Frederik Keeter, married Jacomytjen Van Der Merken.
